

Bayerwald-Bote, May 16, 2012

Kafka at the Glass Manufactory

Literary Collage at the Crystal Glass Manufactory Theresienthal with high-ranking guests

“It was so quiet one could hear a pin drop, when Michael Lahr familiarized the select audience with the life and work of the famous author Franz Kafka; among the guests who came to this profound reading, was also the mayor of Zwiesel, Franz Xaver Steininger, and his spouse.

[...]

With his moving and fascinating reading of Kafka’s stories, diary entries and aphorisms, Gregorij von Leitis demonstrated that he is a master of his trade. With his sonorous voice he carried his listeners away into the captivating world of Kafka, “where the individual is lost”.